Update on the Combination

The boards of directors of The Stars Group and Flutter have considered the likely impact of COVID-19 on the two companies as a combined group (the “Combined Group”) and continue to believe strongly in the strategic rationale for the Combination. Flutter’s board of directors has also considered the future capital management policy for the Combined Group and has revised its previously disclosed dividend approach such that Flutter’s final dividend for the financial year ended December 31, 2019 of 133 pence per share will be paid in Flutter shares instead of cash, subject to Flutter shareholder approval, and Flutter will no longer pay a pro-rated dividend for the period from January 1, 2020 until closing of the transaction to its shareholders as contemplated under the arrangement agreement. Flutter will also suspend its dividend for the current financial year ending December 31, 2020.

Combined Group Board of Directors and Executive Management Update

Following extensive discussions about the optimal construct of the Combined Group’s board of directors and senior executive team, The Stars Group and Flutter agreed that: (i) in response to the COVID-19 pandemic and a resulting desire to keep individuals on the Combined Group board of directors with a wide range of expertise in the near term, the Flutter board of directors will be comprised of fifteen directors until December 31, 2020 with an additional Flutter proposed director for a total of nine Flutter proposed directors during this period; and (ii) Rafi Ashkenazi, The Stars Group’s current CEO, will become a consultant to Flutter advising it on integration and advising its CEO on strategy for The Stars Group’s businesses contributed to the Combined Group, rather than becoming Chief Operating Officer as previously disclosed.
